

Hunt more. Hike less.

Sure, a 10-mile hike through the timber is great exercise, but it takes a mighty big whack out of a day's hunting. That is, unless you do your hiking on a Yamaha Enduro*

Take our model DT1-E, for instance. It's built to be at home on a winding mountain trail. With 250cc's of well-muffled stalking power. Double cradle frame, reinforced for greater strength. Heavy-duty front forks and 5-step adjustable rear suspension that'll take the jolt out of any back country jaunt. The DT1-E also has a Federal forestry approved spark arrester to eliminate the hazard of fire. And when you want to climb, a constant-mesh 5-speed gearbox puts the power where you need it to make the grade

So, next time you hunt the high country, save yourself a lot of time and boot-leather. Head out on a Yamaha 250 Enduro

YAMAHA INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION • P.O. Box 9602, Buena Park, California 90620 / In Canada: Fred Dewey Ltd., Vancouver B.C.

YAMAHA
It's a better machine

